

Bang, Boom, Clang - Haikus

Hello Year 3!

I hope everyone is okay and staying safe. You all did so well putting your class poems together, I can't wait for everyone to see them!

I've been thinking of a way we can keep on our poetic toes whilst school isn't open. Do you know what a haiku is? It's a special poem that is made up of only 3 lines like this:

5 syllables

7 syllables

5 syllables

The Iron Giant
Has legs as long as lampposts
But really small feet

Through our experiments we looked at forces and magnets then we looked at different poetic tools such as onomatopoeia and similes. When you go outside for your exercise or when you look out of the window, have a think about the forces we talked about such as push and pull and try to write your own haiku!

Run fast in the sun
Propelled at the speed of light
Home in time for tea

I'll check back in soon with some more ideas but I hope it's not long before we share our work with Batley Art Gallery!

All My Best
Simon
